This concentration is meant for students who have an interest in focusing more deeply on how to share faith stories effectively in the changing dynamics of the new century as well as exploring new ways of doing and being church that are welcoming of and in service to those who traditionally have been marginalized by the mainstream.

Students who complete the requirements for this concentration will graduate with a vision for development/redevelopment of congregations, basic training in how to do that specialized ministry, and a network of church colleagues who are engaged in the public witness of the love of Christ for all.

- I wish to declare a Concentration in Evangelism & Justice

- I plan to become a Mission Developer/Redeveloper and will engage the extra steps required by the CSM unit of the ELCA

- I have received a copy of the requirements/checklist and am aware of what is expected of me.
